The “Triple Crown” is a single hike that includes the three main trails in People’s State Forest in one single hike. It should take about five hours to complete but the trails are well maintained and there are options to cut the hike short if it becomes too strenuous. There are many streams and vistas along the way, and the Greenwoods Road passes through the middle of the loop. There is about 600 feet of elevation gain on this hike, and its component trails are popular all on their own.
